

Mr. Donald G. Brown of Vicksburg, Mississippi has spent the greater part of the last three decades with Warren-Yazoo Mental Health Service, where he has been employed since 1983. He currently serves as the Warren County Director with the organization, having served various other roles in his 22 years of service there. No stranger to Mississippi public service, Mr. Brown also contributed several years in state agencies working with the Employment Security Commission as well as the Department of Human Services.

Having lived in Mississippi all of his life, Mr. Brown was educated entirely in-state. He received his master's degree in Rehabilitation Counseling Services from Jackson State, and holds a bachelor's degree in Sociology and Social Services from Alcorn State. Mr. Brown has also done postgraduate work in Group Psychotherapy at Mississippi State.

Mr. Brown contributes his time and energy to numerous local, state, and national civic and professional organizations, several in which he serves or has served leadership roles.

He is a member of the Locust Grove Missionary Baptist Church where he also serves as a deacon. Brown and his wife, Cheryl, have four children.
